Fifth Sunday of Lent, commemorating Mary of Egypt 10 April 2011

Commemoration of our Righteous Mother Mary of Egypt (+522); Martyrs Terence, Africanus, Maximus, Pompeius and 36 with them, beheaded at Carthage (250); Six Thousand Holy Martyrs in Georgia (1615); New-Martyr Demos of Smyrna (+1763); New-Martyr Gregory V, Patriarch of Constantinople (+1821).

FIRST ANTIPHON

The Lord is King, He is clothed with majesty; the Lord is clothed with strength and hath girt Himself! He established the world which shall not be shaken! (R.:) Through the intercessions of the Theotokos, O Savior, save us!

Who can utter the mighty acts of the Lord? Who can cause all his praises to be heard? Let the redeemed of the Lord say so, whom He hath redeemed from the hand of the enemy. (R.:) Glory... Now and ever... (R.:)

SECOND ANTIPHON

Let them praise the Lord for His mercies, and for His wonderful works to the children of men. (R.:) Save us, O Son of God, Who art risen from the dead, who sing to Thee, "Alleluia"!

Let them exalt Him in the congregation of the people, and praise Him in the seat of the elders. (R.:)

The eyes of the Lord are upon those that fear Him, upon those that hope in His mercy, to hear the groaning of the prisoners, to loose the sons of the slain. (R.:) Glory... Now and ever... (Only begotten Son ...)

TROPARIA AT THE LITTLE ENTRANCE

TROPARION OF THE RESURRECTION (Tone 5): Let us believers praise and worship the Word coeternal with the Father and the Spirit, born of the Virgin for our salvation. For He took pleasure in ascending the Cross in the flesh to suffer death, and to raise the dead by His glorious resurrection.

TROPARION FOR ST. MARY OF EGYPT (Tone 8): Through thee the divine likeness was securely preserved, O mother Mary; for thou didst carry the cross and follow Christ. By example and precept thou didst teach us to ignore the body, because it is perishable, and to attend to the concerns of the undying soul. Therefore, doth thy soul rejoice with the angels.

TROPARION OF SAINT ANTHONY THE GREAT (Tone 4, Russian): Like the zealous Elijah thou didst become, and followed John the Baptist in his upright ways. A dweller in the wilderness, thou didst steady the world by prayer. O Father Anthony, intercede with Christ our God for our souls' salvation.

KONTAKION FOR ORDINARY SUNDAYS (Tone 4): O protection of Christians that cannot be put to shame, mediation unto the Creator most constant: despise not the suppliant voices of those who have sinned; but be thou quick, O good one, to come unto our aid, who in faith cry unto thee "Hasten to intercession, and speed thou to make supplication, thou who dost ever protect, O Theotokos, those who honor thee!"

LIVING: We pray for the health and well being of Rachel (Seba's niece), Mary Ann, Bill, Sula, Nancy, Fran, Dolores (Sipos), Dolores (Bingham), Angelica, Diane, Karyn, Brian, Maria, Marius, Justin, Sara, and the baby Christina.

DEPARTED: Petruța, Peter, Michael, William, Mariana, James, Mary Ann, Joseph, Katherine.

TODAY'S APOSTLE READING

Prokeimenon:

*Make your vows to the Lord our God, and perform them.
God is known in Judah; His Name is great in Israel.*

*The Reading is from the Epistle to the Hebrews
(Heb 6:13-20)*

BRETHREN: when Christ appeared as a high priest of the good things to come, then through a greater and more perfect tabernacle not made with hands (that is, not of this creation), he entered once for all into the Holy Place, taking not the blood of goats and calves but his own blood, thus securing an eternal redemption. For if the sprinkling of defiled persons with the blood of goats and bulls and with the ashes of a heifer sanctifies for the purification of the flesh, how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without blemish to God, purify your conscience from dead works to serve the living God.

It is now the third Sunday on which we read about the Old Testament temple as a foreshadowing of the new covenant in Christ. Two weeks ago, the emphasis was on Jesus Christ, who, because He is both fully man and fully God, is our perfect “bridge” to God, our true High Priest. Last Sunday we read that He has entered into the inner chamber behind the curtain, and that He did so on our behalf and as our forerunner. And today we hear about the type of sacrifice He brought.

Like our churches, the Temple had two rooms: a larger one—the outer chamber or “holy place”—and a smaller one behind it—the inner chamber or “holy of holies” (similar to our altar room). The inner chamber was separated from the outer chamber through a heavy curtain (similar to our iconostasis). This structure of the Temple had deep symbolic meaning. The inner chamber, or “holy of holies,” represented the Presence of God, inaccessible to fallen humanity. However, at the time of Christ’s death on the cross, the curtain guarding the entrance to the inner chamber was torn from top to bottom. In short, we now have access to God (symbolically, we have gained admission into the inner chamber) because Jesus our high priest has entered into the presence of God on our behalf.

But the high priest, who entered the inner chamber once a year, on the Day of Atonement, would bring an animal sacrifice. What sort of sacrifice did Christ bring? Well, the answer to this question was given centuries before it actually happened by the prophet Isaiah: All of us had wandered off like sheep; each of us had strayed off on his own path. But the Lord laid upon him [Christ] the sin of us all. Like a lamb led to the slaughter, like a sheep silent before the shearers, he was silent and opened not his mouth. He poured out his soul to death, he bore the sin of many, and made intercession for sinners.

Our high priest comes before God on behalf of all humanity, just as the high priests of old would intercede for Israel; but rather than sacrifice a lamb—as a sign of repentance—our high priest offers Himself up; he pours Himself out, as He is the Lamb of God. At the Divine Liturgy, while the people are singing the Cherubic Hymn, the priest prays a long prayer that ends with these words: You, Christ our God, are the one who offers and the one who is offered, the one who receives and the one who is distributed ...

And Christ did not enter the Jerusalem Temple for a ritual offering, but entered “a greater and more perfect tabernacle not made with hands”: He entered heaven (the very reality that the temple symbolized!) and opened for us direct access to God himself. That is why we can call God “Father,” as count ourselves children of God.

TODAY'S GOSPEL READING

The Reading is from the Gospel according to Saint Mark

(Mk 10:32-45)

At that time Jesus took the twelve aside, and he began to tell them what was to happen to him, saying, "Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem; and the Son of man will be delivered to the chief priests and the scribes, and they will condemn him to death, and deliver him to the Gentiles; and they will mock him, and spit upon him, and scourge him, and kill him; and after three days he will rise." And James and John, the sons of Zebedee came forward and said to him, "Master, we want you to do for us whatever we ask of you." And he said to them, "What do you want me to do for you?" And they said to him, "Grant us to sit, one at your right hand and one at your left, in your glory." But Jesus, said to them, "You do not know what you are asking. Are you able to drink the cup I drink, or to be baptized with the baptism with which I am baptized?" And they said to him, "We are able." And Jesus said to them, "The cup that I drink you will drink; and the baptism with which I am baptized, you will be baptized; but to sit at my right hand or at my left is not mine to grant, but it is for those for whom it has been prepared." And when the ten heard it, they began to be indignant at James and John. And Jesus called them to him and said to them, "You know that those who are supposed to rule over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great men exercise authority over them. But it shall not be so among you; but whoever would be great among you must be your servant, and whoever would be first among you must be the slave of all. For the Son of man himself came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many."

Today's Gospel offers a very unflattering portrait of the disciples of our Lord. James and John (two of the three closest disciples—the third one being Peter) decide to "cash in" on their status as friends of the Lord. "We want you to do for us whatever we ask of you!" More specifically, they want to share his divine glory. The problem with their request was that they imagined it to be about power and honor, about ruling over the entire world. And the other disciples, as soon as they find out, are immediately angry at the two. Why should James and John get ahead of everyone else?

The Gospel makes it clear that the demand and the entire disagreement is childish and embarrassing for the disciples. The Lord Himself very firmly chastises them: "it shall not be so among you! Whoever would be great among you must be your servant, and whoever would be first among you must be the slave of all. For the Son of man himself came not to be served but to serve!" The glory of the Kingdom is not about ruling over others, but about service. The model is Christ himself.

Why does Saint Mark tell us this story about the disciples? Obviously, because he thinks that the lesson Christ gave to James and John still applies to his readers. Think of the many times when appeal to God and faith is used to gain and exercise power, to coerce or manipulate others into submission.

Note also that James and John make their move immediately after the Lord foretells His impending Passion ("Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem; ... and they will mock the Son of man, and spit upon him, and scourge him, and kill him; and after three days he will rise"). The lesson to take with us, as we are now approaching Holy Week, is that the way to the true glory of God is through the humility of the Cross.
